

STATE HEALTH INSPECTORS ORDER HYDRANTS CLOSED

Make Inspection at Shovel Row This Morning

REPORT TO DEPARTMENT

Typhoid Cased it is Said by Residents Using Contaminated Water

State Department of Health Inspectors Hood and Ewing of Harrisburg were in Charleroi this morning and made an examination of conditions at Shovel Row, where it is stated, several cases of typhoid have resulted from use of contaminated water. After a somewhat brief but thorough investigation, Mr. Hood instructed Assistant Superintendent Eckles of the Hussey-Binns Shovel plant to close hydrants where the people had been getting water. Their instructions were complied with.

The hydrants in question were those connected to a private main of the Hussey-Binns company, and for which they supplied water through a private system. The residents had apparently not been boiling their water as instructed by the local board of health and health officer, but had been drinking the water, and using it otherwise, without taking any precautions. To prevent a further use of the water the shovel company was instructed to run off the water supply for all these hydrants. A well is to be drilled at once, but in the meantime the people will use water from a hydrant in the rear of the shovel plant.

The water, it is claimed, is contaminated by sewage from two sewers, which are laid close to the water main.

MONESSEN CLERKS ASK FOR SUNDAY

Some Merchants Persist in Remaining Open on Sabbath, it is Claimed

MOSTLY SMALL STORES

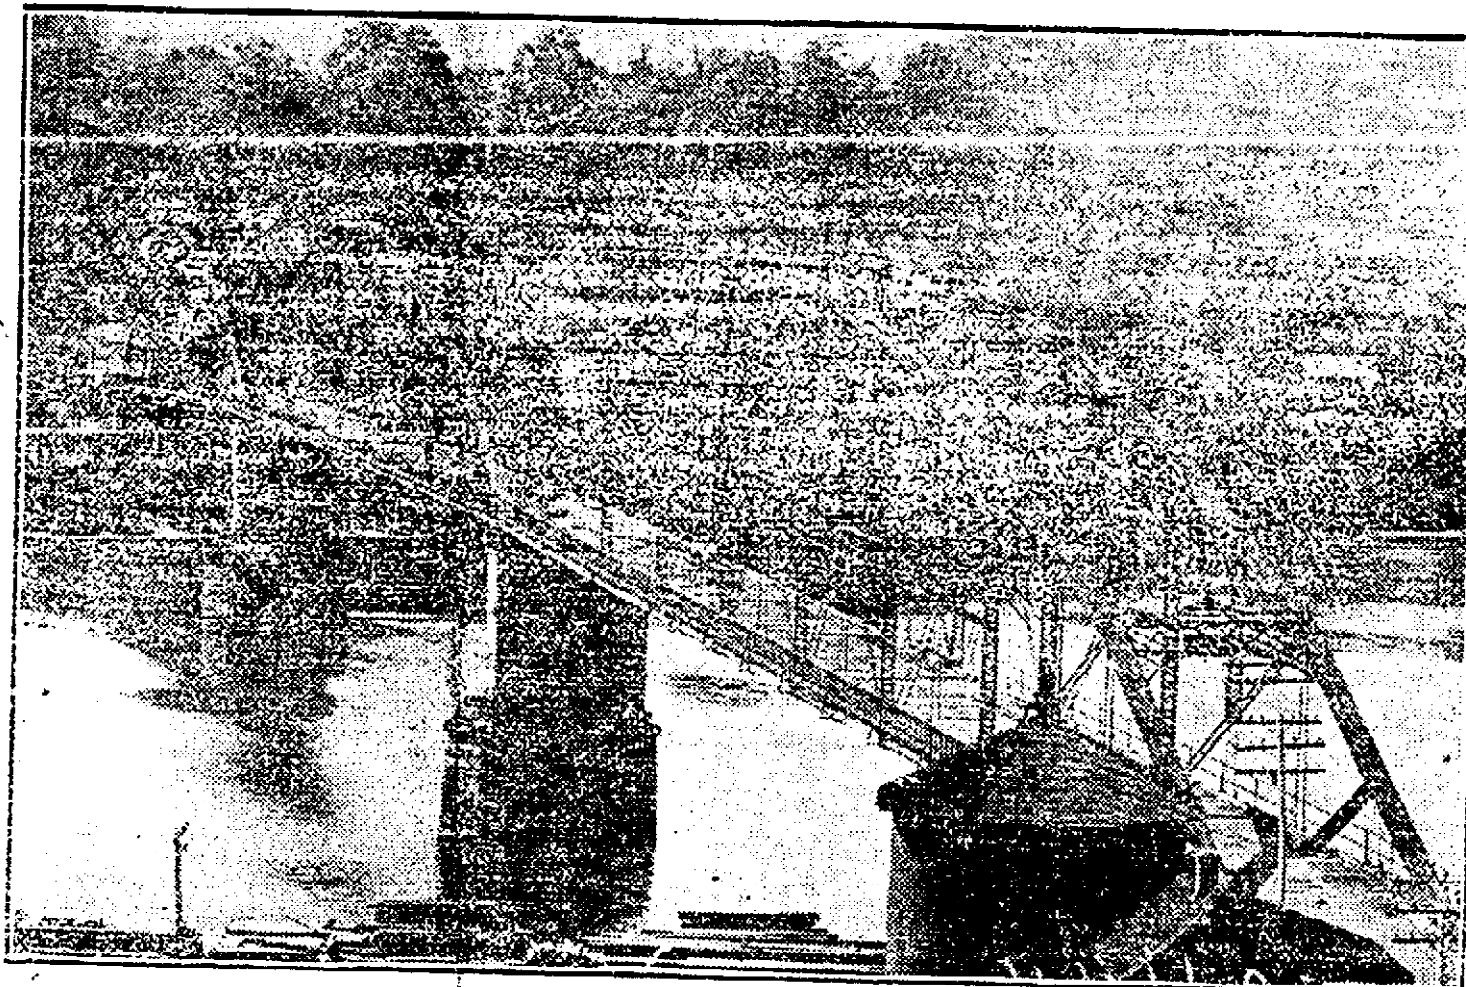

The Monessen Retail Clerks association have asked for a better observance of the Sabbath in Monessen, because of the large number of small retail groceries and fruit stores which remain open on that day. A resolution has been prepared and presented to the members, for unanimous adoption.

The resolution calls for a committee to visit the constable in each ward and make a request that the officer call in person and urge upon the proprietors of such establishments the closing of their places of business on the Sabbath.

No effort will be made to force a compliance, but it is thought that there will be no trouble experienced in securing a general and ready response in case all agree to close. The clerks will appreciate any assistance in the matter of accomplishing their purpose.

Miss Nell Meador and Miss Lulu Trew left Saturday evening for Beallsville where they will be the guests of friends and relatives for a few days.

Committees Will Make Fight Pictures Final Reports Tonight

TWO TOWNS PREPARE FOR THE OCCASION

Belle Vernon, Speers and the Bridge are Gaily Decorated

The final reports of committees will be heard, and final arrangements made tonight at a meeting of the various persons in charge of the free bridge demonstration to be held at Belle Vernon Wednesday of this week. Numerous acceptances of special invitations of persons to be present on the day have been received, and are still coming in.

The program has been nearly perfected, and it is expected everything will be carried out according to detailed plans. Nearly all the Washington county court house officials are expected to attend the affair, including Judges J. A. McVaine and J. F. Taylor. Both these gentlemen are expected to make addresses. Owing to a rush of business at the Fayette county seat, not so many of the officials there will be able to come for the celebration.

Belle Vernon, Speers and the bridge have been finely decorated by the W. T. Hardester company of Carnegie, and present a gala appearance. Yesterday many crossed the bridge for the first time since it was freed, and bugles and automobiles formed a constant stream over the structure.

Much interest to local people centers in the parade, which forms at Speers and continues along the Speers Charleroi road to Charleroi, thence to Monessen, and back to Belle Vernon. From Belle Vernon the paraders will go to Lynn's Grove for the picnic and outing. There will be no special "speakers" table for the invited guests, but everything will be in regular picnic style. Yacht racing will follow in the evening.

DIVISION WOULD BE AFFECTED

Strike Would Cause Mines to be Closed Down

SETTLEMENT HOPED FOR

Should a strike be declared by trainmen of the Pennsylvania railroad the Monongahela valley will be seriously affected. It would mean practically a shutdown for many mines and industries along the valley, besides causing inconveniences to various retail and wholesale dealers in nearly every town.

The company would of course endeavor to maintain their passenger and mail service, and the freight traffic would necessarily suffer. The large coal mines which ship by railroad would thus be deprived of their only avenue of shipment, and a shut down would occur. The same would apply to factories which have large shipments by freight.

This morning local dealers in meat and other staples were studying the situation, realizing the trouble a strike would cause them. The large shipments would naturally be cut down and the people would be the sufferers.

Word from the strike zones this morning was to the effect that there was hope of a settlement of the troublesome wage scales shortly.

TELLS OF DISCOVERIES

Rev. Herbert Moninger of Cincinnati, Ohio, who recently returned from a three months' trip to the Holy Land gave a talk to the Sunday school and congregation of the First Christian church yesterday morning of experiences he had on his trip. He spoke of the present conditions in Palestine, and by word pictures of things he had seen elucidated Scriptural passages. He spoke of discoveries that had recently been made of objects mentioned in the Bible proving in this way its authenticity of the narrative.

Bears the Earmarks

Bearing the earmarks of former Congressman E. F. Acheson's dismal walls since he was defeated for the nomination for Congress in this district by John K. Tener, and backed by other political derelicts, a call has been issued for a State convention to meet in Philadelphia Thursday, July 28, to nominate candidates in opposition to the Republican and Democratic State tickets. It is needless to say that the movement is to be financed by the old-time party raiders, Ex-Senator "Bill" Flinn, deposed boss of Pittsburgh and Van Valkenberg, would-be boss of Philadelphia. In lieu of cash Ex-Boss Acheson of Washington county is expected to furnish the strategy for the campaign.

While some of the singers of the call for the third-party convention may be actuated by sincere motives for Utopian reform the bulk of them are political derelicts and sore-heads like E. F. Acheson, whose signature is third on the document. The movement is designed to appeal to the disappointed office seekers, the disaffected and the disgruntled, and the political neurotics of the State. It is organized by deposed bosses, and financed by party raiders who are out for spoils. It will not deceive the people, but will make the election of Tener easy by dividing the opposition.

Life in the Open

Starting with the community and Sunday school picnic, each year witnesses a marked increase in the number and variety of outdoor outings. There is now scarcely a family, a church or Sunday school, a fraternal society or organization of any kind that has one or more annual picnics or outings in the open. From a transitory pleasure period the idea is becoming permanent, and individuals and families are drifting more and more to prolonged outings and vacations in the open. Formerly hunting and fishing were supposed to be the only motives for camping expeditions, but now pleasure and recreation have usurped the time honored sports.

More than that it has been discovered that one does not necessarily need to leave civilization and go long distances to get all the pleasures of camping in the open. Right in the outskirts of any town—frequently on a neighboring farm—camp life will have all the advantages of open air with many of the inconveniences of distant locations eliminated. Along the banks of rivers, can be found many excellent camping grounds, not so far from home and business but what a supervising eye can be exercised over private affairs at all times. Many town residents who are unable to leave with their families on an extended vacation are able to procure tents and sufficient equipment to camp out, over Sunday near home and enjoy all the advantages of an outing.

In view of the crusade against tuberculosis, and the popularity of outdoor sleeping, the temporary and installment outing should become still more popular. It involves little expense, and would be productive of health and enjoyment besides.

How it Would Hurt.

Present indications are that the threatened strike of the Pennsylvania Railroad employees may be settled. With a truce in negotiations over Sunday, and time to reflect and meditate upon the losses and consequences of a long drawn out conflict a feeling is manifest today that an agreement may be made between the contending interests.

Without entering into a discussion of the merits of the contest from either side, it is certain that a strike of the Pennsylvania Railroad trainmen would be most disastrous to the business interests of the valley. It would immediately cause many of the railroad mines to shut down on account of lack of transportation, thereby throwing thousands of miners out of employment. Mills and factories that are dependent upon the road to transport raw material and products necessary to the manufacture of commodities in the valley would be tied up while other industrial projects would case for lack of material from these mills. In addition the employees would suffer from the loss of wages, while the railroads themselves would have heavy losses which would later be recouped in the way of advanced rates to the public. This is what the conflict will entail, and if it comes it will hurt this section most severely.

Likens Card Parties and Theatres to the Baby's Playthings

Mrs. C. S. Joshua, wife of Rev. Joshua of the First Baptist church, preached a somewhat sensational sermon yesterday morning at that denomination in which she aimed several hot shots at public and invitation dances, card and theatre parties and men who smoke. She likened people who dance, attend card parties and the like to babies, who must have playthings to keep them from making a fuss. Concerning boys and young men who smoke she said: "You see young men going down street looking so manly with a pipe, cigar or cigarette stuck in their mouths, but after all they are only babies following their infantile inclinations. Poor things, they must have something to suck." She preached for her husband at the solicitation of members of the congregation.

The Illusion of Night. I sometimes fancy that every great city must have been built by night. At least it is only at night that every part of a great city is great. All architecture is great architecture after sunset. Perhaps architecture is really a nocturnal art, like the art of fireworks. At least I think many people of those nobler trades that work by night (journalists, policemen, burglars, coffee stall keepers and such mistaken enthusiasts as refuse to go home till morning) must often have stood admiring some black bulk of building with a crown of battlements or a crest of spires and then burst into tears at daybreak to discover that it was only a haberdasher's shop with huge gold letters across the face of it.—G. A. Chesterton in London News.

All the Difference.

Among the patients in the private ward of a Philadelphia hospital there was recently a testy old millionaire of that city whose case gave his physician considerable difficulty at first.

"Well," asked the crusty patient one morning, "how do you find me now, eh?"

"You're getting on fine," responded the doctor, rubbing his hands with an air of satisfaction. "Your legs are still swollen, but that doesn't trouble me."

"Of course it doesn't," howled the old man. "And let me tell you this: If your legs were swollen, it wouldn't trouble me either!"—Lippincott's.

A CHINESE WEDDING.

As Solemn as a Funeral, With the Women All Weeping.

A Chinese marriage is an ceremony—no talk, no levity and much crying. The solemnity of a funeral prevails. After the exchange of presents the bride is dressed with much care in a red gown, brocade or silk if she can get it; her eyelashes are painted a deep black, and she wears a heavy red veil attached to a scarlet headress, from which imitation pearls are pendent over the forehead.

A feast is spread upon a table, to which the blushing bride is led by two of her best female friends. They are seated at the table, but no one eats. The utmost silence prevails, when finally the mother leads off in a cry, the maids follow, and the bride echoes in the chorus. Then all the bridesmaids leave the table, and the disconsolate mother takes a seat beside the chair of state where the bride sits.

The bridegroom now enters, with four of his best men. The men pick up the throne on which the bride sits and, preceded by the bridegroom, form in procession and walk around the room or into an adjoining parlor, signifying that he is carrying her away to his own home. The guests then throw rice at the happy couple, a custom we have borrowed from the East.—St. James' Gazette.

CHEST NOTES.

Varying Sounds That May Be Heard Through the Stethoscope.

The doctor hears some curious noises when he places the stethoscope against your chest. When the lungs are in a healthy condition the medical gentleman hears a pleasant, breezy sound, soft in tone, as you draw in the breath and expel it. Should the instrument convey to his ear a gurgling or bubbling sound he makes a mental note of the fact that you are in what is known as the moist stage of bronchitis. In the dry stage of the same complaint the sound is a whistling, wheezy one.

One of the signs of pneumonia is the crackling note that comes through the stethoscope. It is not unlike the sound that can be heard when your finger and thumb have touched a sticky substance and you first place them together and then part them, holding them close to your ear.

Doctors occasionally hear a dripping sound, and that indicates that air and water have got into some part of the chest where they have no right to be. Blow across a bottle, and you will produce a sound which is actually to be heard in your chest. It is caused in the same way—that is, by air passing over a cavity.

Filipino Buglers.

"Speaking of buglers," says Boat swain Jurashka in his article, "Captured by Filipinos," in Wide World Magazine. "It astonished me to find that the insurgents had so many buglers and that many of them were of the best. They knew all our army calls, although they did not know their significance. I was often asked the meaning of various calls and was careful to give them any but the proper one. One insurgent colonel asked me what call was sounded as the retreat from the charge. I told him that we had no such call, but that the charge once sounded, American soldiers and sailors went through or never came back. He was very much interested and with good reason, as he had just escaped from the attack of our men at Holo and could well believe it. He said that charging was unfair—that both sides should simply snipe at each other."

So He Would.

A little country girl visited city relatives who dwelt in a flat. Her visit lasted two weeks, and all of the time they were warning her not to make so much noise, not to run across the street and not to waken the people in the adjoining flats. In fact, they were constantly curtailing her freedom. When she got home she told her papa; she never wanted to go to the city again, and he said:

"You must have had a hard time of it. You do look hollow eyed."

"Well, papa," she said, "if you had folks hollerin' at you all the time you'd look hollow eyed too."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Not Ambiguous at All.

In one of England's elections a candidate for parliament, the late Lord Bath, called attention to himself by means of a donkey, over whose back two panniers were slung bearing a ribbon band on which was printed "Vote For Papa." It must be added, however, that in each pannier stood one of Lord Bath's daughters.

STATE HEALTH INSPECTORS ORDER HYDRANTS CLOSED

Make Inspection at Shovel Row This Morning

REPORT TO DEPARTMENT

Typhoid Cased it is Said by Residents Using Contaminated Water

State Department of Health Inspectors Hood and Ewing of Harrisburg were in Charleroi this morning and made an examination of conditions at Shovel Row, where it is stated, several cases of typhoid have resulted from use of contaminated water. After a somewhat brief but thorough investigation, Mr. Hood instructed Assistant Superintendent Eckles of the Hussey-Binns Shovel plant to close hydrants where the people had been getting water. Their instructions were complied with.

The hydrants in question were those connected to a private main of the Hussey-Binns company, and for which they supplied water through a private system. The residents had apparently not been boiling their water as instructed by the local board of health and health officer, but had been drinking the water, and using it otherwise, without taking any precautions. To prevent a further use of the water the shovel company was instructed to run off the water supply for all these hydrants. A well is to be drilled at once, but in the meantime the people will use water from a hydrant in the rear of the shovel plant.

The water, it is claimed, is contaminated by sewage from two sewers, which are laid close to the water main.

MONESSEN CLERKS ASK FOR SUNDAY

Some Merchants Persist in Remaining Open on Sabbath, it is Claimed

MOSTLY SMALL STORES

The Monessen Retail Clerks association have asked for a better observance of the Sabbath in Monessen, because of the large number of small retail groceries and fruit stores which remain open on that day. A resolution has been prepared and presented to the members, for unanimous adoption.

The resolution calls for a committee to visit the constable in each ward and make a request that the officer call in person and urge upon the proprietors of such establishments the closing of their places of business on the Sabbath.

No effort will be made to force a compliance, but it is thought that there will be no trouble experienced in securing a general and ready response in case all agree to close. The clerks will appreciate any assistance in the matter of accomplishing their purpose.

Miss Nell Measor and Miss Lulu Trew left Saturday evening for Beallsville where they will be the guests of friends and relatives for a few days.

Middle of Road for Poker Game

Number of Players Arrested for Gambling and Desecrating of Sabbath

Selecting a shady spot in the middle of the road twelve poker players blocked the highway at Coal Hill near Washington Sunday. They compelled vehicles and autos to go around them, and were generally obnoxious to the public that happened to pass that way. Two State troopers and a constable were notified, and succeeded in arresting the whole bunch. They were taken to the county jail where forfeits were put up for a hearing. When arrested there was $200 in the pot.

DOG KILLED AFTER RUN

Mad Animal Which Terrorized Country Districts Finally Shot

WAS CHASED LONG WAYS

After running at large about Scenery Hill and Beallsville, where it has been terrorizing the residents for over a week, a mad dog known to have bitten several persons, a half dozen other dogs and as many cows, was shot by Edward Doyle at Centerville, early Sunday morning.

The infected canine, which is thought to have wandered into that region from Duane's station, was given a wide path on a number of occasions and it is stated by citizens that even policemen allowed the animal to wander about the streets without making an effort to kill it.

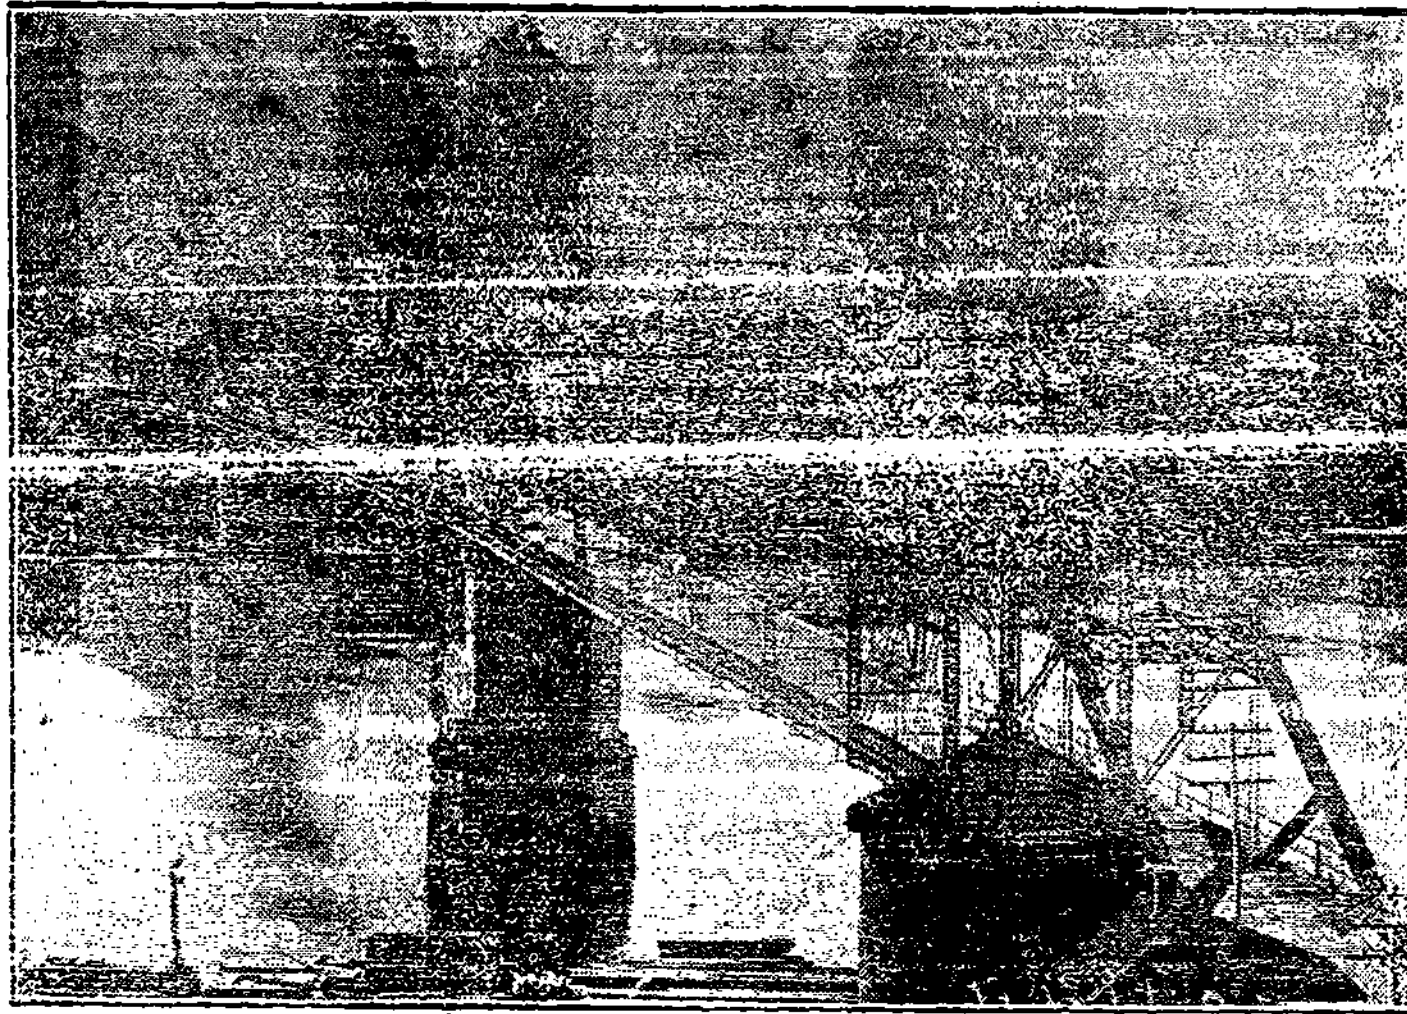

It is said that after the dog started on the trail toward Centerville a member of the force telephoned to Edward Doyle to be on the watch for the animal as it entered Centerville. At a special meeting of the Beallsville council held Saturday night, an ordinance was passed providing for the muzzling of all dogs at once. Any strange canine within the borough limits will be killed on sight.

Constable Cole Served in Official Capacity Many Years

E. G. Cole of Beallsville has the distinction of having served as constable of Beallsville borough for 27 consecutive years. He also held the assessorship for the borough for 25 consecutive years. For the past 53 years he has held the office of superintendent of the Beallsville cemetery. Mr. Cole also served for three years as jury commissioner of Washington county. He is a staunch Republican and has always won over his opponents in the elections by a large majority. Mr. Cole was foreman of the last jury which sat in the old county court house at Washington.

Committees Will Make Fight Pictures Final Reports Tonight

TWO TOWNS PREPARE FOR THE OCCASION

Belle Vernon, Speers and the Bridge are Gaily Decorated

The final reports of committees will be heard, and final arrangements made tonight at a meeting of the various persons in charge of the free bridge demonstration to be held at Belle Vernon Wednesday of this week. Numerous acceptances of special invitations of persons to be present on the day have been received, and are still coming in.

The program has been nearly perfected, and it is expected everything will be carried out according to detailed plans. Nearly all the Washington county court house officials are expected to attend the affair, including Judges J. A. Melvaine and J. F. Taylor. Both these gentlemen are expected to make addresses. Owing to a rush of business at the Fayette county seat, not so many of the officials there will be able to come for the celebration.

Belle Vernon, Speers and the bridge have been finely decorated by the W. T. Hardester company of Carnegie, and present a gala appearance. Yesterday many crossed the bridge for the first time since it was freed, and buggies and automobiles formed a constant stream over the structure.

Much interest to local people centers in the parade, which forms at Speers and continues along the Speers-Charleroi road to Charleroi, thence to Monessen, and back to Belle Vernon. From Belle Vernon the paraders will go to Lynn's Grove for the picnic and outing. There will be no special "speakers" table for the invited guests, but everything will be in regular picnic style. Yacht racing will follow in the evening.

DIVISION WOULD BE AFFECTED

Strike Would Cause Mines to be Closed Down

SETTLEMENT HOPED FOR

Should a strike be declared by trainmen of the Pennsylvania railroad the Monongahela valley will be seriously affected. It would mean practically a shutdown for many mines and industries along the valley, besides causing inconveniences to various retail and wholesale dealers in nearly every town.

The company would of course endeavor to maintain their passenger and mail service, and the freight traffic would necessarily suffer. The large coal mines which ship by railroad would thus be deprived of their only avenue of shipment, and a shut down would occur. The same would apply to factories which have large shipments by freight.

This morning local dealers in meat and other staples were studying the situation, realizing the trouble a strike would cause them. The large shipments would naturally be cut down and the people would be the sufferers.

Word from the strike zones this morning was to the effect that there was hope of a settlement of the troublesome wage scales shortly.

TELLS OF DISCOVERIES

Rev. Herbert Moninger of Cincinnati, Ohio, who recently returned from a three months' trip to the Holy Land gave a talk to the Sunday school and congregation of the First Christian church yesterday morning of experiences he had on his trip. He spoke of the present conditions in Palestine, and by word pictures of things he had seen elucidated Scriptural passages. He spoke of discoveries that had recently been made of objects mentioned in the Bible proving in this way its authenticity of the narrative.

Bears the Earmarks

Bearing the earmarks of former Congressman E. F. Acheson's dismal walls since he was defeated for the nomination for Congress in this district by John K. Tener, and backed by other political derelicts, a call has been issued for a State convention to meet in Philadelphia Thursday, July 28, to nominate candidates in opposition to the Republican and Democratic State tickets. It is needless to say that the movement is to be financed by the old-time party raiders. Ex-Senator "Biff" Flinn, deposed boss of Pittsburgh and Van Valkenberg, would-be boss of Philadelphia. In lieu of cash Ex-Boss Acheson of Washington county is expected to furnish the strategy for the campaign.

While some of the singers of the call for the third party convention may be actuated by sincere motives for Utopian reform the bulk of them are political derelicts and sore-heads like E. F. Acheson, whose signature is third on the document. The movement is designed to appeal to the disappointed office seekers, the disaffected and the disgruntled, and the political neurotics of the State. It is organized by deposed bosses, and financed by party raiders who are out for spoils. It will not deceive the people, but will make the election of Tener easy by dividing the opposition.

Life in the Open

Starting with the community and Sunday school picnic, each year witnesses a marked increase in the number and variety of outdoor outings. There is now scarcely a family, a church or Sunday school, a fraternal society or organization of any kind but what has one or more annual picnics or outings in the open. From a transitory pleasure period the idea is becoming permanent, and individuals and families are drifting more and more to prolonged outings and vacations in the open. Formerly hunting and fishing were supposed to be the only motives for camping expeditions, but now pleasure and recreation have usurped the time honored sports.

More than that it has been discovered that one does not necessarily need to leave civilization and go long distances to get all the pleasures of camping in the open. Right in the outskirts of any town—frequently on a neighboring farm—camp life will nane all the advantages of open air with many of the inconveniences of distant locations eliminated. Along the banks of rivers, can be found many excellent camping grounds, not so far from home and business but what a supervising eye can be exercised over private affairs at all times. Many town residents who are unable to leave with their families on an extended vacation are able to procure tents and sufficient equipment to camp out over Sunday near home and enjoy all the advantages of an outing.

In view of the crusade against tuberculosis, and the popularity of outdoor sleeping, the temporary and installment outing should become still more popular. It involves little expense, and would be productive of health and enjoyment besides.

How it Would Hurt.

Present indications are that the threatened strike of the Pennsylvania Railroad employes may be settled. With a truce in negotiations over Sunday, and time to reflect and meditate upon the losses and consequences of a long drawn out conflict a feeling is manifest today that an agreement may be made between the contending interests.

Without entering into a discussion of the merits of the contest from either side, it is certain that a strike of the Pennsylvania Railroad trainmen would be most disastrous to the business interests of the valley. It would immediately cause many of the railroad mines to shut down on account of lack of transportation, thereby throwing thousands of miners out of employment. Mills and factories that are dependent upon the road to transport raw material and products necessary to the manufacture of commodities in the valley would be tied up while other industrial projects would case for lack of material from these mills. In addition the employes would suffer from the loss of wages, while the railroads themselves would have heavy losses which would later be recouped in the way of advanced rates to the public. This is what the conflict will entail, and if it comes it will hurt this section most severely.

Likens Card Parties and Theatres to the Baby's Playthings

Mrs. C. S. Joshua, wife of Rev. Joshua of the First Baptist church, preached a somewhat sensational sermon yesterday morning at that denomination in which she aimed several hot shots at public and invitation dances, card and theatre parties and men who smoke. She likened people who dance, attend card parties and the like to babies, who must have playthings to keep them from making a fuss. Concerning boys and young men who smoke she said: "You see young men going down street looking so manly with a pipe, cigar or cigarette stuck in their mouths, but after all they are only babies following their infantile inclinations. Poor things, they must have something to suck." She preached for her husband at the solicitation of members of the congregation.

A Light Diet.

He recently asked them to tell him "what animal is satisfied with the least nourishment." "The moth!" one of them shouted confidently. "It eats nothing but holes."—Youth's Companion.

The Illusion of Night. I sometimes fancy that every great city must have been built by night. At least it is only at night that every part of a great city is great. All architecture is great architecture after sunset. Perhaps architecture is really a nocturnal art, like the art of fireworks. At least I think many people of those nobler trades that work by night (journalists, policemen, burglars, coffee stall keepers and such mistaken enthusiasts as refuse to go home till morning) must often have stood admiring some black bulk of building with a crown of battlements or a crest of spires and then burst into tears at daybreak to discover that it was only a haberdasher's shop with huge gold letters across the face of it.—G. A. Chesterton in London News.

All the Difference.

Among the patients in the private ward of a Philadelphia hospital there was recently a testy old millionaire of that city whose case gave his physician considerable difficulty at first. "Well," asked the crusty patient one morning, "how do you find me now, eh?" "You're getting on fine," responded the doctor, rubbing his hands with an air of satisfaction. "Your legs are still swollen, but that doesn't trouble me."

"Of course it doesn't!" howled the old man. "And let me tell you this: If your legs were swollen, it wouldn't trouble me either!"—Lippincott's.

Ambergria.

The essential characteristic of ambergria is the penetrating and peculiar odor, similar to that of musk. It is so powerful and so diffusive in its perfume that the most minute quantity when mingled with any other strong scent is still perceptible. Its chief component is a fatty matter called ambrein, which is got by boiling ambergria in alcohol.

A-CHINESE WEDDING.

As Solemn as a Funeral, With the Women All Weeping.

A Chinese marriage is all ceremony—no talk, no levity and much crying. The solemnity of a funeral prevails. After the exchange of presents the bride is dressed with much care in a red gown, brocade or silk if she can get it; her eyelashes are painted a deep black, and she wears a heavy red veil attached to a scarlet headress, from which imitation pearls are pendent over the forehead.

A feast is spread upon a table, to which the blushing bride is led by five or her best female friends. They are seated at the table, but no one eats. The utmost silence prevails, when finally the mother leads off in a cry, the maids follow, and the bride echoes in the chorus. Then all the bridesmaids leave the table, and the disconsolate mother takes a seat beside the chair of state where the bride sits.

The bridegroom now enters, with four of his best men. The men pick up the throne on which the bride sits and, preceded by the bridegroom, form in procession and walk around the room or into an adjoining parlor, signifying that he is carrying her away to his own home. The guests then throw rice at the happy couple, a custom which is derived from the heathen.—St. James' Gazette.

CHEST NOTES.

Varying Sounds That May Be Heard Through the Stethoscope.

The doctor hears some curious noises when he places the stethoscope against your chest. When the lungs are in a healthy condition the medical gentleman hears a pleasant, breezy sound, soft in tone, as you draw in the breath and expel it. Should the instrument convey to his ear a gurgling or bubbling sound he makes a mental note of the fact that you are in what is known as the moist stage of bronchitis. In the dry stage of the same complaint the sound is a whistling, wheezy one.

One of the signs of pneumonia is the crackling note that comes through the stethoscope. It is not unlike the sound that can be heard when your finger and thumb have touched a sticky substance and you first place them together and then part them, holding them close to your ear.

Doctors occasionally hear a dripping sound, and that indicates that air and water have got into some part of the chest where they have no right to be. Blow across a bottle, and you will produce a sound which is actually to be heard in your chest. It is caused in the same way—that is, by air passing over a cavity.

Filipino Buglers.

"Speaking of buglers," says Boat Swain Jurasekka in his article, "Captured by Filipinos," in Wide World Magazine. "It astonished me to find that the insurgents had so many buglers and that many of them were of the best. They knew all our army calls, although they did not know their significance. I was often asked the meaning of various calls and was careful to give them any but the proper one. One insurgent colonel asked me what call was sounded as the retreat from the charge. I told him that we had no such call, but that the charge once sounded, American soldiers and sailors went through or never came back. He was very much interested and with good reason, as he had just escaped from the attack of our men at Holo and could well believe it. He said that charging was unfair—that both sides should simply snipe at each other."

So He Would.

A little country girl visited city relatives who dwelt in a flat. Her visit lasted two weeks, and all of the time they were warning her not to make so much noise, not to run across the street and not to waken the people in the adjoining flats. In fact, they were constantly curtailing her freedom. When she got home she told her papa she never wanted to go to the city again, and he said:

"You must have had a hard time of it. You do look hollow-eyed."

"Well, papa," she said, "if you had folks hollow-eyed at you all the time you'd look hollow-eyed too."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Not Ambiguous at All.

In one of England's elections a candidate for parliament, the late Lord Bath, called attention to himself by means of a donkey, over whose back two panniers were slung bearing a ribbon band on which was printed "Vote For Papa." It must be added, however, that in each pannier stood one of Lord Bath's daughters.
